To whom it may Concern,

I have had the pleasure of knowing Andros Pelecanos for ten years now. Upon recruiting him to my law firm, I immediately realized that he was a man of great potential. Within a few months my predictions were confirmed and I saw him develop to an extremely hard working and talented criminal lawyer. He proved his ability to work independently and to follow through to ensure that every case he was assigned was successfully completed.

His talent in criminal law also gave me the confidence to aid me with various high profile criminal cases.

I could only describe Andros Pelecanos as a valuable asset whilst being employed by my legal firm.

Other than his professionalism I also consider him as a true and trustworthy friend. I have also had the privilege of being his best man at his wedding and I am happy to see him happily married with his wife. He is a role model to his daughter who I hope to see follow the footsteps of her father.
